Federation blog policy

Welcome

Welcome to the official blog of the Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences. Our blog is a forum for discussion on a range of engaging topics:

- News and stories about the Federation, our members, our partners and our board members

- Mainstream media coverage about the humanities and socials sciences

- Policy developments in the humanities and social sciences in Canada

- Funding and collaboration opportunities

- Conferences, symposia and other knowledge exchange events

- New research, journal articles and books in humanities and social sciences

- Congress of the Humanities and Social Sciences programming and activities

Content submission

The Federation welcomes guest blog posts from our members and others in the research community.

- Submissions should be original and should be respectful of named organizations and individuals.

- The author must provide their full name and, if applicable, the name of their organization or institution.

- Proprietary material (research, quotations, other source material) should be duly referenced and should include either a URL to the material in question or acknowledgement of the owner of the material (full name, organization, document name, publication date, as applicable).

- Blog posts should relate to the mission and mandate of the Federation and generally be under 300 words. Longer submissions are accepted as well, if warranted, or may be published as a short series, with the author's approval.

- The Federation invites submissions in either official language. Submissions will be posted in the language(s) in which they are provided; submissions will not be translated. The Federation reserves the right to edit for length and clarity.

- The Federation encourages the inclusion of a visual element, photo or image with any blog submission, as long as the photo/image does not pose any copyright infringement issues.

- Submissions can be sent to the Federation's communications team at communications@ideas-idees.ca.

Approval process

The Federation reviews all submissions prior to publication.

- The Federation may edit for length and clarity. If edits are significant, the Federation will seek author approval before publishing.

- Approved submissions are generally posted within five business days. Priority is given to submissions of a time-sensitive nature.

- Submissions that are disrespectful, overly promotional or do not align with to the mission and mandate of the Federation will not be posted.

Disclaimer

All guest blog posts and comments reflect the opinion of the author(s) and not necessarily that of the Federation or its board of directors.
